Wadsworth and McClelland Win Top Positions On Daily

Nelson Wadsworth and Tom McClelland were appointed Wednesday by the Student Council to be next quarter's top executives of the Spartan Daily.

The two had been suggested earlier by the staffs of the Daily and its business department and were recommended to the Council by Dr. Dwight Bentel, journalism department head.

Wadsworth served as a reporter on the Contra Costa Gazette in his home town of Martinez, and was a member of the newspaper staff at Alhambra high school, also in Martinez. He served two years in the Marine Corps with the 1st Marine division in Korea. He graduated from Alhambra high school in 1948, and is a senior journalism major at SJS.

McClelland is a senior advertising major from Alhambra, Calif. He is a graduate of Mt. San Antonio college, and a member of Theta Chi at SJS. It will be his duty as business manager to make certain that the Spartan Daily is operated on a sound business basis and to supervise the selling of advertising space.

Dr. Elmer Staffebach, professor of education, will lecture on European education at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday in Room S112.

The talk will be sponsored by Kappa Delta Pi, national education honor society. Faculty members, students and the general public are invited.

Dr. Staffebach returned recently from Europe, where he took his sabbatical leave.

Forty-four new members were initiated into Kappa Delta Pi on Nov. 17. Requirement for membership in the society is an over-all grade average of 2.0.

Dr. William J. Iverson of Stanford university became an honorary member of the Beta Alpha chapter during the initiation.

Dr. Henry Meckel, professor of education, is adviser to Kappa Delta Pi.

Dedication Will Feature SJS Symphony

Highlight of the Music building dedication, Dec. 3, will be the college Symphony orchestra concert which will be held at 8:15 p.m. in the Concert hall.

The orchestra will be directed by Dr. Lyle W. Downey, head of the Music department.

Music in the afternoon will be furnished by the a cappella choir, directed by William J. Erlendson, associate professor of music.

The other events to be held in connection with the dedication of the new building will be a Music Workshop at 2 p.m. with Edwin Franko Goldman, famous New York band director, in charge. The clinic group will be the Central California Coast Counties Honor band. For these programs, tickets are available to all students in the Music office.

Featured soloist in the evening concert will be William J. Erlendson, who will appear with the orchestra in a new piano concerto by Dr. Howard Hanson, director of the Eastman School of Music.

The orchestra will perform Randall Thompson's "Symphony No. 2." They will also play Robert Ward's "Jubilation."

Invitations will be sent for the opening night. They will be sent to the parents and friends of the students and faculty. Tickets have been sent to alumni, state and county officials, educators, legislators, leaders in the field of music and other friends of the college.

Bids for Seal Ball Go on Sale Today

The second annual Christmas Seal Ball, sponsored by Alpha Phi Omega, will be held from 9 p.m. to 1 a.m. at the Scottish Rite Temple, Third and St. James streets, Saturday, Dec. 5.

According to Co-chairmen Chuck Bailey and Bill Tarr, proceeds of the dance will go to the Santa Clara county Tuberculosis association.

Bids for the ball are $1.50. They will be on sale today from a booth in the Library Arch.

Buddy King and his orchestra will provide music, and a special intermission program has been arranged by the Tuberculosis association. Refreshments will be served.

Class Schedules Go on Sale Today

Class schedules for the winter quarter will go on sale today at the local book stores, according to Dean Joe H. West.

In an attempt to prevent last-minute confusion, department advisers request that those students desirous of pre-registration advise their respective advisers this week, Dean West stated.

To Hear Educator

Dr. James Brown's Educational Sociology class will have as a guest speaker tomorrow at 7 p.m., Dr. Harold Schonfeld, superintendent of schools in Decoto.

He will speak on "Education and community public relations." A film, "Design for learning," will be shown.

PE Department Prevails On Awards Situation

By JOE BRYAN

The Men's Physical Education department won a major victory over the Awards committee last Wednesday afternoon when the Student Council voted to have the Awards committee review football awards for the recent season. Previously, the council had accepted the Awards committee recommendation that the number of awards be reduced from 33 to 22.

AMS Forms Plans For Variety Show

The proposal to make the AMS variety show a part of the blood drive was turned down by the Deans committee at a meeting last Wednesday, according to Dave Pantoskey, AMS president.

Dick Conzelmann, chairman of Community Services, stated that he was disappointed at this turn of events. He added that the variety show would have attracted a number of donors who might not have been contacted in any other way.

Students wishing to give blood during the Campus Blood drive that begins tomorrow may register until Thursday, according to Dick Conzelmann, chairman of the drive. Registration booths will be located in the Library Arch, Music and Engineering buildings, and Outer Quad. Blood may be donated in the Student Union.

Don Costa, athletics director for AMS, announced the following program: A Dixieland band from the Music department, a hypnotist, the Dumbbells, Dick Garvin at the piano, the "Four-Tune-Tellers" quartet, and a routine by Jim Houston and Bob Twist.

Costa stated that Danny Hill, director of athletic publicity, will give a short talk on football, and a football movie also will be shown. A talk on basketball will be presented by Coach Walt McPherson.

Council Picks Chief Justice

Stan Croonquist, junior business administration major, was appointed Chief Justice of the Student Court last Wednesday by the Student Council.

Croonquist was chosen to fill the vacancy on the court created by the ineligibility of Siouss Nowne.

STAN CROONQUIST

jad, exchange student from Iran, who had been appointed to the position earlier this year.

The new chief justice was recently elected president of Alpha Phi Omega, national service fraternity. He has been active in service projects of the fraternity. He served as chairman of the "Absent Minded Professor" contest in the Campus Chest drive.

He is working now with the chairman of the campus blood drive which gets under way tomorrow.

Request for the review was read to the Student Council by Corresponding Secretary Sally Lotz. It was in the form of a letter from Glenn "Tiny" Hartranft, Physical Education department head. In his letter Hartranft quoted figures showing that the football awards system had been the same since 1939 and that the two platoon system had not affected it as the Awards committee had declared in its recommendation to reduce the number of awards.

According to precedent, such a review should be held during spring quarter when a general review of the awards to all departments is made by the Awards committee.

Motion for the review of the football awards situation was made by Barbara Roach, senior representative to the Student Council, who stated that her motive in making the motion was to "allay criticism." Second for the motion came from Sherry Nuremberg sophomore representative to the Student Council.

Harp Didier, chairman of the Awards committee, was not available for comment on the new aspect of the football awards situation. He had stated previously that the setting of the number of football awards at 22 did not deprive any member of the 1953 football squad of an award since, under the awards system for the Physical Education department, members of the coaching staff could recommend awards in excess of the basic number as approved by the Awards committee.

No Women in Bars To Writer's Frustration

(From Minnesota Daily)

After throwing down a couple of double egg phosphates, with a cold objective eye, I got down to business. My god I thought I'd never get that second eye down, either.) I opened a conversation with the man on the next stool.

"Got a match?" I gambited. The man rejoined a rather clever, but unprintable, metaphor about matches and I put it to him point blank.

"Where are the women?" I whispered, avoiding both high and low tones.

"Can't drink at bars," he cursed, moving confidentially closer. I turned down my collar.

In a few minutes we were close friends, and, realizing me to be a man of honor, he took his finger out of my drink, and pointed to a wall across the dance floor.

"You wanta see some women?" he asked.

"Hotcha," I said signifying the affirmative.

He gave me the directions and I wrote them down hurriedly on my merit badge sash, under my waistcoat: Go to the juke box, play number 33.

A panel behind the machine will slide open. Walk into the next room.

The first time I got El Comari. The second time it worked.

Tittering voices and a drunken wash of feminine singing played recklessly on my little pink ears. I stepped up to the bar and threw down another double egg phosphate (without the eye). Something warm that smelled exotic pressed against my right thigh. The bartender told me to get away from the hot dog machine and I moved down the bar, crawling slowly to avoid the drinks and things.

"You're a doll, big boy," a voice purred into my ear. I turned around. Then she was standing there, just standing. She had golden hair and she was doing something to me with her eyes and I liked it and she was a woman.

"Tell me," I asked, "what do you think of this new law about no women drinking at bars?"

"You're a doll, big boy," she purred.

I reached for her hand.

SAN FRANCISCO (UP)—Mrs. Rosemarie Infante, 24, an attractive brunette fashion model, was granted a divorce on grounds of "extreme cruelty" yesterday after she testified her cab driver husband poured a glass of wine over her head during an argument in a restaurant.

Europe Hears Campus Story Behind Curtain

(From Daily Californian)

The University of California, or news of it at least, has pierced the Iron Curtain.

On Oct. 1, Europeans behind the Iron Curtain received a broadcast of Radio Free Europe although reception was plagued by intermittent static and Communist "jamming".

The subject of the program, beamed from Munich, Germany, was the people and buildings who cover a square mile of ground some 8,000 miles away in Berkeley, Calif. — our University.

Powerful transmitters and an ingenious radio network brought to the communist-oppressed peoples of Europe the story of one of America's great universities, its traditions, politics, athletic programs, social life, and welfare projects.

The script, although factual, was warm with human interest and presented a living picture of university life to people who grind out a meager daily existence under the iron hand of Moscow.

The primary aim of RFE "is to sustain their hope of gaining their national freedom and individual liberties, and to encourage the eventual restoration of these peoples to the free world." Americans and Europeans work together in preparing programs for every social, political, and religious group behind the curtain.

One of the features of the California program was an explanation of the traditional Big Game between California and Stanford University and the Axe that goes to the winner each year. In an understandable confusion of sports, the announcer said, "The Stanford Axe is a sports trophy . . . testifying to the University's great baseball victory over the Stanfords." This was a minor point that did not detract at all from the worth of the program.

The RFE has waged its psychological war against the Communist regimes in Europe since 1949. The University of California can perhaps consider itself as a weapon that was used in this campaign.

Boys Will Be Boys

BERKELEY, Calif. — (UP) — Thomas S. Blake, 20-year-old University of California chemistry student, has had his "B-B" gun taken away from him.

Blake admitted to Municipal Judge Redmond Statts that he was the one who roamed around the UC campus taking pot-shots at coeds — from the rear. He was fined $15.

GI's in Korea Attend College

The University of California has opened up a new extension in Korea.

The 40th Infantry division was the first combat unit to take advantage of the University's new educational program overseas. A small green tent with no heating and inadequate lighting serves as the division's classroom far north in the hills of Korea.

"It's not easy to carry on our studies under these conditions," replies Sgt. Pasquale R. Viscosi, 223rd Infantry regiment, Company L's communication chief, "but I know that I speak for all of the men when I say that it's worth it."

Often one hears students complaining about the heavy and cumbersome books that they are required to pack from class to class. The army men enrolled in the extension are required to pack M-1 rifles, cartridge belts and steel helmets as well as their books but do not mind so much.

Sgt. Viscosi said, "The men are grateful for this chance to continue on with their education over here."

Novice Boxers Still May Sign for Tourney

Prospective boxers still have time to enter this year's Novice Boxing tournament, according to Coach Julie Menendez. Entries will be accepted until Tuesday afternoon, provided physical examinations have been taken.

Menendez reminded novice boxers that official weigh-in will be held in the small gym from 9 a.m. to 12 noon and from 1 to 5 p.m. Tuesday.

Novices will lace on gloves for the three-day extravaganza of boxing, Dec. 2, 3 and 4, in the 17th annual tournament.

The novice tournament, now one of the biggest sporting events on campus, is the outgrowth of a one-night stand in 1935, when a handful of people turned out to watch the beginners "mix it up."

Last year 1000 fans watched the opening matches. Over 100 boxers comprised the largest number of participants in the tournament's history.

Matthews Named Player of Year

Halfback Larry Matthews was named last week as the "player of the year" at San Jose State college by the Northern California Football Writers association at a gang dinner at the Press and Union League club.

Matthews was one of eight Bay Area players to receive engraved plaques from Art Rosebaum, San Francisco Chronicle sports writer and president of the Football Writers association.

Spartan Coach Bob Bronzan was an honored guest along with Coaches Pappy Waldorf of California, Jack Myers of COP, Joe Verducci of San Francisco State and Chuck Taylor of Stanford who was named "Coach of the Year," a title Bronzan held in 1952.

SJS Cagers Open Season With SF State

Spartan basketball squad will open its season tomorrow night at 8:20 o'clock in Spartan gym against the "always tough to beat" San Francisco State college team, Coach Walt McPherson said recently.

McPherson described the Bay City quintet as a fast moving outfit which has "given us lots of trouble in the past." San Francisco has been traditionally a fast break team, and they have several holdovers from last year who are lightning fast, he continued.

The Golden Raiders defeated the Gators twice last season, but both contests were hard-fought and undecided until the closing seconds, McPherson said.

This year, the Raiders will begin the season without standouts in point making as far as statistics are concerned, Lee Jensen and Don Edwards, co-captains of last year's squad, were the first and third place winners in total tallies and both have graduated. Second place man, Fred Niemann, has been inducted into the Armed Forces since the end of last season. Niemann also was top rebound man on the squad.

Predicted by their coach for top spots in scoring this year were Carroll Williams, Bob Bondanza, Bud Hjelm, Buster Burgos and Bob Steinbach.

Turkey Trots as Duck Flies Coop

Prior to the running of the Annual Turkey Trot Tuesday, the question was, gobbler, gobbler, who's got the gobbler? Wednesday morning a slight change took place. The question became, duck, duck, who's got the duck?

For Trish Myers, a duck awarded to second place runner Bob McMullen, flew the coop sometime in the early morning hours Wednesday. When last seen the flighty quacker was headed in the direction of Sears' warehouse near Spartan City Trailer court, the bird's temporary abode.

Anyone seeing McMullen's feathered friend wandering around is asked to notify the inconsolable Bob.
